Light In Your (Articulation Joint) Darkness

The HÜBNER Group will be focussing on innovation product design and enhanced safety. The new folding bellow models for articulated connections are a case in point. Traditional folding bellows typically came in a functionalistic single-tone grey. Today's modern transport operators more often than not choose designer-styled folding bellows. HÜBNER design folding bellows are now available in two basic models, either translucent or in full colour.

The translucent version allows more light to penetrate the darker areas of an articulated bus. With full-colour folding bellows the articulated bus takes on a unique individual appearance. Single- or multi-coloured bellows can be produced. An intriguing side-effect of the full-colour version is the "animation" of the design through the accordion movement of the bellows as the bus turns corners!

Safety and high-quality design are also the focal points of the new EXEO II Lift System, which has been on the market since March 2009. The latest model has a new look compared with its predecessor, with ergonomically enhanced handrails. The most significant improvements are first evident when one uses the new system. Newly patented mechanical components and an uninterrupted electronically monitored control system increase operating safety and ensure smooth, jerk-free raising and lowering.
